TEHRAN- A lineup of six Iranian films will go on screen in different sections of the 6th edition of AmiCorti International Film Festival, which will be held in the Italian city of Cuneo on June 29.

Iranian shorts "The Last Whinny of a Horse that Had Dreamt of Becoming a Butterfly" directed by Mahdieh Mohammadi and "The Other" by Negah Sohrabi are among the films.

In "The Last Whinny of a Horse that Had Dreamt of Becoming a Butterfly," Yalda yearns to witness wild horses in their natural habitat before her time runs out. With unwavering dedication, her husband assists her in fulfilling this poignant final wish. This beautifully crafted narrative explores the beauty of fleeting moments and the enduring value of cherished memories, serving as a poignant reminder of life's preciousness.

In "The Other", an animated short film, Farhad is given the task of sorting the memoirs of a long-dead woman. While working, he falls in love with the old lady's supposed niece. During their first date, he notices many new mysterious details.

"The Light" by Alireza Saadi, and "The Last Child" by Serna Amini will also be competing at the festival.

The festival will also screen Iranian feature films "7600" by Behrooz Bagheri and "Dead End" by Saba Kazemi.

AmiCorti IFF is a premier platform for showcasing and discussing new international cinema, highlighting diverse perspectives and artistic trends. With a focus on emerging cinema, young and independent filmmakers, the festival prioritizes the discovery and promotion of innovative films by up-and-coming directors who push the boundaries of originality and style.
